

So how was your day today?

Yeah, I had a job interview today. It went terribly... I should have acted more friendly and less reserved. If I had smiled more and laughed more, things might have gone better. Ugh. Maybe I should have bragged more--I held back because I didn't want to sound obnoxious. A better sense of humor would have also been useful. Also, crying was probably a bad idea. That was so embarrassing...

